Introduction

- My project is a playdate website for dogs
- Features: About Us, Profiles, Price plans
- Users can register for an account
- Download links to app or play store
- Social media links

Design and Implementation:

I used balsamiq to create a mock up design and started to code based on my framework. Along the way,

I changed the footer layout since it looked to plain.

I mostly used bootstrap components along with CSS.

Conclusion:

I've learned a lot from this project. I definitely made a lot of mistakes and had to do a lot of research. One of the hurdles was adding an image as a background for my forms. Centering and sizing were also a lot of trials and errors. I also didn't realize how much external pages I would need for this website.

- Best feature of this website is its minimalist look and its simplicities.
- Shortcoming is having to create multiple external pages.

In conclusion, after completing the project thus far, I realized that there's still more that I need to implement. Sometimes I wonder if I should've chosen an easier idea for a website. But overall, I'm pretty satisfied and will try to continue this journey that I started.
